He did not know who paid for them, but Lawyer Gowen, sald it was in evidence that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, having made the contract, was obligated for the cost.

This information came as a surprise to Mr. Glasgow, who said the fact was not in evidence, and that he had been trying to secure the information.

W. A. Guthrie, a mine operator, told the commission that when his representative applied at the office of General Manager Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania Railroad for an order for company fuel, he was told he could get it by paying to a clerk named Huff or Hoff in Mr. Atterbury's office an allowance of three cents a ton. He did not say who imposed the conditions. He reported the matter to Vice-President Pugh and he secured the order without paying the allowance. Mr. Push at first discredited his störy, the order without paying the allowance. Pugh at first discredited his story, witness said.

unware of the fact that her father was in the city, and lying herself at the point of death, Lulu Kondall, seventeen-year-old daughter of S. R. Kendall, of this city, saw as in a vision the accident which occurred to her father.

Miss Kendall was in attendance at the Sisters' School at Sturgis when she was taken seriously ill with rheumatism of the heart, and her father went to that city at once to be near her. The shool is on the bluffs above the town, and while climbing up the hill Mr. Kendall, heing unfamiliar with the place, missed his footing and silpred, falling thirty feet to the sorge below.

That night his daughter, all unawae of where he was, begged the doctors to send aid to him. She described vividity to Dr. J. D. Neftzger, the attending physidian, the accident (which had befallen her father and told how he lay at the foot of the neighboring cilffs. "Please, Doctor." she begged, "sind some one to help him. I can hear lim calling for aid. Do not leave him there to suffer alone."

The attendants thought her pleas he result of an hallucination, and no attempt was made to find Mr. Kendall, and it was not until the next afternoon that he was discovered, paralyzed, at the foo of the bluffs, having lain there all night in the cold. The stri ded that everling, Kendall is now in the hospital at Sturgis, and there is hope for his ultimate recovery.

Manchester, England, May 31, 1906. Richmond's Obligations.

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:

Sir,—I am glad to have you acknowledged that my hurried interview with a reporter of one of the afternoon papers has caused some little discussion, for I am frank to say that was the purpose of the interview.

It is my wish that the people who pay taxes may know whither we are drifting, or, rather, how the Financ eCommittee and Council are being driven into expenditure of money, which the dity cannot afford, by the reckless demands of the press and some few citizens.

Replying to your criticisms in the order in which they were made, I will say: say: First, In regard to the drop in price of the bonds. In January, 1905, we sold 55,600 bonds at $106 1-8; in July, 1905, we of the bonds. In January, 1986, we sold 55,900 bonds at $100 1-8; in July, 1905, we sold $176,320 at $100; in January, 1986, we sold $376,380 bonds at $104,013; in July, 1905, we sold $364,380 bonds at $104,013; in July, 1905, we sold $364,580 bonds at $104,013; in July, 1905, we sold $364,580 bonds at $104,013; in July, 1906, we sold 188,480 at average price of $106,560; in July, 1907, $186,690; in 1908, $324,-972, and in 1908, $261,600. All of the above are refunding bonds.

In addition to the above, we have a new tond issue of 508,000, at least half of which will have to be sold before January 1, 1907. It is absolutely necessary that we shall have another issue of $108,000 for the immediate use of the Water Department, and it will, also, be necessary to sell bonds to improve the annexed teritory, and another $20,000 for change in the High School proposition. So, you see, that we are up against it for the next three years.

Now I respectfully submit that there is such a thing as feeding out the good thing too fast, I understand that the bond, market fluctuates, but we have no reusen to believe that the wonderful business activity of the country will not continue, which is the cause of the tight money market that we have had for nearly twelve months.

The parties who bought our bonds in January at $194,013, only bid $10,50 on the July issue. Draw your own conclusions. I have been told by parties, who will not bid on the bonds just sold, but would take chances at the new Issue of $100,000, soon to be on the market. Under the law, our refunding bonds cannot be sold at less than par. If this condition should confront us it would mean that our bonds would have to be issued at a higher rate of interest. Second. If the reporter understood me to say, that Richmond has the lowest tax rate of any city of the same class, he misunderstood me, for I knew this was not true; but I did say, and I silek to it, that our tax rate is one of the cheapest in the country. You cannot take the flat tax rate, as laid down in the World's Almanac, and conclude that, these cities have no special taxes, for such is hot the case. Many of them, I am sure, have all kinds of special taxes, for schools, pipes, etc. As far as I can learn, Atlanta's mode of (axation is almost identical with ours. Her present tax rate is $1.25; her debt. Is about $3,500,000; and ours a little over $3,600,000. Her sinking fund is $500,- or pile up a floating debt. Atlanta's tax-able values are just about the same as ours.

In regard to Atlanta's property being assessed on a 60 per cent. basis, I do not know anything about that, except that the Atlanta people claim everything in sight. My business is such that I very often have to refer to our assessibility. We extracted have been that of

REMARKABLE STRENGTH OF LAKE LABOR UNIONS

One of the reasons why the present strike on the Great Lakes is of so much moment is owing to the remarkable strength of the labor organization connected with the shipping business on the inland seas. Every rank known to the "lakers," from the masters down to the humblest deckhand, and including the cook, has a recognized place in this organization. Salaries, numbers of persons to be employed and responsibilities are definitely fixed by the agents of the unions every spring beftye navigation opens. The average employer of any of these classes of men or women spends fully half of the month of April each yar "seeing" the labor agents and arranging the terms of the contracts between the men and their employers for the coming season. It is a good deal of a nulsance to the employers, but they have to go through with it or else run the risk of having; work come to an end.

As as instance of the laws relating to the crews of lake vesseds it may be stated that each ship of a certain tonnage may carry two "watchmen" and more. They must be paid a certain salary, which is $40 a month, and if for any reason the captain or owner wishes to pay a superior man in this capacity more pay a waltress, or if they are able to do the work to the satisfaction of the men

the cook can eliminate the waltress, which few of them do, for the responsibilities of a cook on a lake vessel include the getting of the meals, the buying of provisions and the washing of clothes as well. As breakfast is usually caten at 6 o'clock for the first watch, the cooks's duties begin about 4 o'clock in the morning, and she never stops until about 10 o'clock at night, since before she goes to bed she has to leave ready a midnight meal for the officers and men.

Authentic Description of Jesus?

The Orient correspondent has just made public the text of a letter written by Publius Lentulus, an officer of Pontius Plate's court, to the Roman Emperor, which, as announced exclusively in the World last week, was recently discovered in the library of the Lazarist Fathers in Rome.

If this letter proves authentic it may be considered the most important historical document ever discovered regarding the personality of Jesus. It purports to have been whitten just as Christ was beginning his presching through Judea. It reads.

"I have learned, O Caesar, that you desired some information regarding this virtuous man called Jesus, the Christ, whom the people consider a prophet and his disciples regard as the Son of God, Creator of heaven and earth.

"It is a fact that every day one hears wonderful things told of him. To be brief, he makes the dead rise and he heals the sick.

"He is a man of medium size, whose appearance indicates both great sweetness and such an amount of dignity that one feels in looking at Him that he must love Him, and at the same time fear Him.

"His hair, down to His ears, is of the color of ripe walnuts and hangs down on his shoulders as a light blond and clear mass; it is parted in the middle, according to the fashion of the Nazarenes, His beard, of the same color as His hair, is curly, and although not very long, is parted in the middle like the sun; it is impossible for any one to look Him long in the face.
